

The collage consists of 15 architectural renderings for the 'Kafes' project. The top row features three images: a wide shot of the curved, white building with arches and a stone wall; a view of the building from a distance; and a close-up of the arches. The middle row includes a view of the building from a distance, a view of the building from a distance, and a view of the building from a distance. The bottom row shows the interior of the building, a view of the building from a distance, and a view of the building from a distance.
